

With five weeks of the session done the General Assembly has received 796 bills, completed action on but a handful, and the bulk of Governor Francis Cherry's program must be translated into law in the final weeks. The 59th Assembly ends Friday, March 13.

But as the governor pointed out in his Little Rock press conference Thursday the key to his whole program is tax reform, which will appear as a proposed constitutional amendment referred by the legislature to the people for a popular vote in the general election of 1954. And Cherry said Thursday, "I would rather see this tax revision program go through than to be governor."

He went on: "I believe this will be our only chance to get this tax revision done. It has been tried many times before without success. During my campaign for governor I told the people I would give them a chance to vote on such a plan. They indicated to me they were ready for such a program. If we don't get it through now I doubt if we ever will."

Governor Cherry plans to stump the state personally in behalf of his amendment. He expects opposition for some of his proposals but thinks the people will favor the whole measure after hearing it debated.

Your editor thinks so, too.

The average Arkansian knows there is something basically wrong with our tax system when not even a multitude of special state taxes can find the revenue needed for necessary public services. The fact is our basic property tax system will not permit us to raise at home the revenues which local districts are expected to raise at home in other states; therefore we are always putting Little Rock under pressure for more funds than she can find state taxes to cover.

Put properly on the assessment books fairly and honestly — and a lot of our public money problems are going to be answered.

Watered-Down Reds in 'Voice' Work Described

WASHINGTON, (AP) — A New York employee of the "Voice of America" today charged three of his fellow workers watered down anti-Communist references in scripts prepared for overseas broadcasts.

The employee, Virgil H. Fulling, told a Senate investigations subcommittee he had encountered several such instances and had come to feel he was fighting "sinister influences."

Asked by Chairman McCarthy (R-Wis.) to name those he considered responsible "for this softening down or catering to the Communist," Fulling called off the names of Harold Berman, Donald Taylor and Robert Goldman.

Fulling identified himself as chief of the Latin-American news service of the "Voice."

He presented to the subcommittee documents which he said covered a specific instance of watering down last Jan. 21, the day after President Eisenhower's inauguration.

On that day, Fulling related, he prepared a script which told of pro-American demonstrations by "anti-Communist" elements in Guatemala.

Douglas Is Named to Airforce Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today nominated James Henderson Douglas Jr., of Lynbrook, Ill., to be undersecretary of the Air Force.

Douglas, 53, a lawyer, was named in place of Robert Sprague, Massachusetts manufacturer, who was Eisenhower's first choice for the post but who declined to sell family business interests in order to accept it.

During World War II Douglas served from 1942 to 1945 as deputy chief of staff and later as chief of staff for the Air Transport Command.

A Princeton graduate, Douglas is a director of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, and the Chicago Title and Trust company. He is a member of the law firm of Gardner-Carter and Douglas.

Eisenhower also sent to the Senate the nominations of:

Val Peterson, former governor of Nebraska, to be civil defense administrator.

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., James J. Wadsworth and Ernest A. Gross to be United States representatives to the second part of the seventh session of the United Nations General Assembly.

William Saunders of Virginia, a special assistant in the State Department's bureau of United Nations affairs, to be an alternate representative.

'Help' Sign Saves Life of Farmer

FAYETTEVILLE (AP) — Weak and bleeding, an elderly farmer who had been shot from ambush painted a huge "help" sign, dragged it into a country road and crawled back into his home to wait for someone to find him.

A couple of hours later yesterday a neighbor discovered Warren Klocke, 68, and brought him to a Fayetteville hospital, where his condition was described as serious. Klocke, 68, and brought him to a seven miles southeast of here, had suffered a 12 gauge shotgun wound in his right side about 12 hours earlier.

Sheriff Bruce Crider quoted Klocke, a former U. S. marshal at Shoshoni, Wyo., as giving this version of the shooting and his long wait for assistance:

He was shot by someone he didn't see as he stood in his yard Wednesday.

Presently a man he identified as Jesse Barnes, 47, came along and helped him into the house. Barnes left saying he was going for help, but didn't return.

He lay on the floor all Wednesday night, unable to move. Yesterday morning he painted "H-E-L-P" on a piece of tin, three feet by 10 feet.

He dragged himself and the sign to the road in front of his house and struggled back into the house.

Neighbor Richard Nelson spotted the sign and found Klocke about noon.

Sheriff Crider said he was looking for Barnes to question him.

G&F Funds Voted Down in House

By LEON HATCH

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — An appropriation bill for the Arkansas Game and Fish Commission was defeated by three votes yesterday after an hour of noisy debate in the House.

The action was a narrow, and only tentative, victory for a House bloc which is trying to persuade the Commission that it should adopt the legislators' views on certain regulations.

The points of difference were enumerated by Rep. Paul Van Dalsem of Perry County as he touched off the rough and tumble discussion.

Van Dalsem said: "We want free hunting and fishing for people over 65, we want the Commission to repeal the regulation that makes you and your dog have to have a license for squirrel and rabbit hunting and we want them to leave fish farming on private property alone."

"They (the Commission) ignored the Legislative Council when it requested these things, and since then it's ignored this House, which requested the same things."

The vote was 48 to 39 for the proposed 1.6 million dollar yearly appropriation. Fifty-one votes, a

Bonds Set for 3 Involved in Morris Case

Judge Lyle Brown arraigned Charles Richardson, Christine Bridges and Barry L. Wright in Hempstead Circuit court yesterday in connection with the robbery of Jess Morris and fixed bonds.

Richardson, through his attorney John P. Vesey, entered a plea of not guilty to charge of robbery and grand larceny. Mrs. Bridges did likewise and bond for both was set at $1,000.

Wright was charged with receiving stolen property, did not enter a plea, and bond was set at $500. Trial was scheduled for April 6.

All the charges are in connection with the robbery of Morris, local meat dealer. Deputy Prosecuting Attorney Royce Weisenberger said $60 was recovered from Mrs. Bridges and $40 from Wright.

Richardson admitted he got $67 of Morris' money but denied that he robbed him. Mr. Weisenberger said, Deputy Sheriff Bill Garner of Camden recovered part of the check near the Ouachita river bridge after Richardson admitted tearing it up and throwing it out of Wright's auto. Mr. Weisenberger said.

Morris contends that he lost $303 in money and a check for $1,421 and that Richardson knocked him down and took the money and check from Morris' pocket. Weisenberger said.

Canada, Counting on Billion Dollar Economy Bulge, Slashes Income Taxes by 11 Per Cent

OTTAWA (AP) — The government, counting on a billion dollar bulge in its booming economy this year, has ordered an 11 per cent cut in personal income taxes.

Finance Minister Douglas Abbott, in placing the budget before Parliament last night, said Canada could afford to slash 243 million dollars in taxes, spend more, and still balance the budget. He estimated the value of all goods and services produced by Canadians will increase to a record 24 billion dollars this coming year, one billion dollars over the past year. Canada's mining, forestry and manufacturing industries are booming.

The opposition Progressive Conservatives assailed the budget as an election year bid to return the Liberal government of Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent to power. Most politicians expect an election

Allies Beat Off Two Red Attacks

SEOUL (AP) — Outnumbered Allied soldiers, fighting in the haze of Communist smoke shells, beat off two Red attacks on a Western Front outpost in a bitter, bloody clash early today.

The Reds attacked behind a curtain of more than 1,000 rounds of punishing mortar and artillery fire. Some were smoke shells that hampered Allied observation and cast a thick haze over the area for hours.

In the relentless Allied air war U. S. B-29 Superfortresses roared to within five miles of Manchuria in the early morning hours and dumped 110 tons of bombs on a Red communications and supply center.

The Air Force said the 140-acre depot, 20 miles southeast of Shinuiju, contained 360 buildings, a headquarters area, fuel storage tanks, supply dumps and warehouses.

Since the Second War U. S. Has Seen a Growing Revival of Interest in Religion

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Americans never had it so good on earth. And a majority are snugly sure that, when they die, they will have it good in an afterlife, too. They are more certain of heaven than they are afraid of hell.

"Since the second world war, the U. S. has seen a growing revival of interest in religion. Church membership has increased, books on religious topics often hit the best seller lists.

Clerics naturally are pleased that, even in the midst of widespread material prosperity, more and more people are turning to God for a final answer to the tensions of our times. Some, however, are troubled by questions as to the real depth and understanding of religious issues this revival of interest raises.

How do the American people feel on the fundamental tenets of religion? Catholic Digest, a monthly magazine, is making a series of surveys to find out. Its most recent poll had some unexpected and disturbing results.

It found that 99 per cent of Americans over 18 years of age believe in the existence of God, but only 77 per cent think their own individual souls will live on after death.

What happens in this afterlife? Some 72 per cent of all adult Americans believe there is a heaven, where people who have led good lives will be eternally rewarded. But only 58 per cent, on the other hand, believe there is a hell in which bad people who died without regretting their sins will live in eternal damnation.

As to their own chances of being punished in the hot hereafter, Americans are surprisingly optimistic. Their high opinion of their own goodness is shown by the fact that only 12 out of 100 think there is any real possibility of their going to hell.

Catholic Digest finds this attitude dismaying, and proof that

Bell Ordered to Double Bond in Rate Hearing

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Public Service Commission today ordered Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. to double its bond under which it instituted a 2.3 million dollar rate increase.

The Commission also set a tentative hearing date on the proposed rate increase for April 6.

PSC Chairman Lewis M. Robinson said that the present $300,000 bond is to be increased to 1.2 million dollars "immediately."

The rates were put into effect, temporarily, pending outcome of the Commission's rate increase application. The bond is to be used to reimburse the firm's customers if the rate increase is disapproved.

Today's action was announced following a preliminary hearing yesterday at which seven of the 16 cities protesting the increase were represented.

British Fear Russia Will Act Next Year

By JACK V. FOX
LONDON, (UP) — A high British source said today that "rumblings in the Kremlin" indicate Russia might be in position within the next year to retaliate on full scale to any abrupt American action in the Far East.

The same informant said: "1. — Britain has warned France that she is making unacceptable demands on Germany which might wreck the entire plan for a situation European army."

2. — The British government now believes that the best solution of the Trieste issue is to divide that "free territory" at the top of the Adriatic Sea between Italy and Yugoslavia on the basis of population.

Hunt Case Not Dismissed Merely Passed

In yesterday's paper it was erroneously reported that the burglary charges against Thomas Hunt were dismissed. Even though the prosecuting witnesses, Church officials of Shertzer's Church whose church bell was stolen out of the church and sold to a local junk yard, did recommend leniency after their bell was returned, Judge Brown did not dismiss the case but passed it over to see if Hunt was inducted under Selective Service into the Armed Forces on March 25, 1953.

Selective Service officials stated that a person sentenced to the penitentiary would not be inducted into the Armed Forces even though his sentence was suspended and Judge Brown and the other officers felt that since Hunt did not have a previous criminal record he should not be kept out of the Service of his country, if it reasonably could be avoided in this case.

Both he and Sevier Nelson, Jr., who was given a 2-year suspended sentence in this same matter, paid all court costs and all jail costs. Judge Brown made it clear that he was not giving any suspended sentences unless court costs and jail fees were paid by the defendant, and that he intended to do everything possible to keep the costs to the county to a minimum in the operation of the Circuit court.

Fair Enough

In pursuit of my purpose to discredit Drew Pearson by proving that he is a liar, a faker and a political conspirator with a strong preference for Communists, shown by the fact that he regularly employed at least two Communists, I present today further testimony in the investigation of the flight of General Pang Tzu Mow. Mow is a Chinese procurement officer who was attached to the mission of the Republic of China in Washington. He fled to Mexico where he was arrested last August by Mexican federal police on the authority of the office of the Mexican attorney general. The testimony which I present was given under oath by John G. Broady, a New York lawyer representing the Republic of China to a subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary Committee last Dec. 2 in Washington.

The Nationalist Chinese government seeks to recover about $7,000,000 and to extradite Mow to Formosa. Other officers associated with Mow fled to Communist China. If Mow should be extradited to Formosa he might be put to death, Pearson's own lawyer, William A. Roberts, of Washington, is attorney for General Mow and I have already presented testimony by Broady that Mow, in jail in Mexico, told him, in substance, that he had been referred to Roberts and I believe introduced to Roberts, by Drew Pearson or by Drew Pearson's leg-man, Jack Anderson.

The ensuing testimony by Broady may be rather complex, requiring concentration on the part of the reader, so let us have order in the court.

Edward R. Duffy, the investigator for the subcommittee, was conducting the examination in the presence of Senator Arthur V. Watkins, of Utah, presiding.

Mr. Duffy asked: "Do you know whether any attempts were made to verify whether Roberts cashed or redeemed a $100,000 U. S. Treasury bill which had been purchased by Mow with funds which he had embezzled from the Republic of China?"

Broady replied: "Yes; that information is verified."

Mr. Duffy: "And what information was ascertained in this regard?"

Mr. Broady: "Well, I have here with me, pursuant to the committee's subpoena, all of the documents which show this transaction."

Mr. Duffy: "What documents do you have, Mr. Broady? And what do these documents purport to show?"

Mr. Broady: "I have with me a transcript of the special account opened by Colonel William A. Roberts, with Morris Cohen & Company, Brokers, 42 Broadway, New York City on Feb. 11, 1952 and on that date this special account was opened with a $100,000 U. S. Polk."

8th Grade: Fernel Hartsfield, Wells Nutt, Jackie Moran, Bill Tooley, Charles Tittle, Ernest Whitten.

The names of 61 students were placed on the semester Merit Roll and 54 on the 9 weeks' Merit Roll. Requirements are a minimum grade of "B" in each subject and at least 80 honor points.

Students on the semester Merit Roll are:

8th Grade: Christopher Cook, Wanda Clark, Jerry Byers, Maxine Brooks, Marcia Bowden, Patricia Atkinson, Joe Downs, Jerry Brown, Fernel Hartsfield, Barbara Harless, James Gilbert, Bobbie Garrett, Donna Freeman, Charles Fowler, Virginia Fincher, Frances Evans, Wells Nutt, Jackie Moran, Vivian Light, Sara Lou Key, Mary Ann Jones, Linda Rateliff, Toni Thompson, Emma Jean Tollett, Vinnie Mae Powell, Beatrice Ward, Bonnie Tullis, Jerry Wilson.

Students on the 9 weeks Merit Roll are:

DOROTHY DIX

He Does All Housework

Dear Miss Dix: I have been married one month, and while I am new at this marriage business, my wife is not. She was married once before and has two children, who are not with us at present. We both want a home for them as soon as possible. My wife has been working in an establishment outside the city, and I am working, too. However, since she must spend quite a bit of time traveling, I see very little of her. In the evening when she returns from work, we have dinner which I cook. I do most of the other housework, including beds and dishes. I asked her to take a job nearer home, but she refuses. Is this too much to ask of her?

Answer: The problem of a working wife is one that assumes greater and greater proportions as the complexities of modern economies increase the difficulty of establishing and maintaining a home. Most young couples seem to find it difficult, if not impossible, to set up housekeeping without a dual income. For reasons such as probable pregnancy, or emotional upsets, the situation rarely is simple.

Work Out A Budget
I really think, Gerald, that the sooner you put your household on a real family basis, the better. If it is at all possible, work out a budget that will maintain your household on your salary alone. Let your wife have her children with her, and make all possible economic adjustments necessary to get along. Even if your wife took a job closer to home, she wouldn't have enough extra time to run the household with complete efficiency. Your marital set-up is unquestionably unsatisfactory, but the real solution lies more in your wife staying home than in just changing her job.

Dear Miss Dix: I would appreciate it if you could settle an argument between my husband and me. I have been married five years and in that time my in-laws have never come to see me or my children. My oldest child is 2, and the only time he sees his grandparents is when he goes to visit them. They never even called up when my last child was born.

MRS. E. S.
Answer: There surely must be some explanation of your in-laws' curious behavior. Have you been cordial to them and invited them to your home? By all means you should find out what the trouble is, and if it stems from an oversight on your part, remedy it. Tell your husband you insist on knowing the source of his family's discourtesy and assure him you are willing to be cooperative if they are.

Dear Miss Dix: I am a girl of 15, and my problem is that I don't get along with my mother. She insists on dictating everything I do.

Kisch is an ex-employee of the American State Department who gave assistance to Mow in getting to Mexico and getting settled.

Broady next testified to a transaction whereby $20,000 more found its way from Roberts' special account with Morris Cohen to the account of Roberts & McGinnis in the National Metropolitan Bank of Washington. Next he presented photostatic copies of checks representing $15,000 apparently paid to Kisch inasmuch as his endorsement appeared. Then he handed the committee a photostatic copy of a check for $20,000 from Morris Cohen to William Roberts, endorsed "William Roberts, Roberts & McGinnis."

Broady said: "That check shows that out of the total of $100,000 received by Roberts from the redemption of his $100,000 U. S. treasury bill purchased with funds embezzled by Roberts' client, Mow, after Roberts commenced a resistance Mow, $75,000 went into the till of Roberts & McGinnis and $25,000 went to Kisch."

Ike Rounds Out His First Month

By ED CREAMH

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19—President Eisenhower rounds out his first month in the White House today—to all appearances chipper and undaunted by the "grim" problems facing him and the nation.

"Grim" was the word applied to the world situation by some Congress members leaving the White House yesterday after a top-level briefing on military and financial hurdles ahead.

Eisenhower sat in on the briefing but to all appearances it didn't get him down.

Reporters who saw him in a few hours later, following a luncheon for a group of Democratic senators, found him in excellent spirits and showing no strain from the office he took over from Harry S. Truman just a month ago.

I wear the clothes she likes, must go with the friends she selects, and must attend only the parties and affairs she chooses. She doesn't like my working at church, and what is what I like to do best.

DOLLY

Answer: Your mother should be guiding your judgment rather than dictating it. At 15, you should be allowed to select your own clothes—unless you happen to have bizarre taste and should be permitted at least a reasonable choice in friends and places of entertainment. Are you sure you have never given your mother cause to mistrust your sense of responsibility? Let her see by your actions around the house, that you are growing up and are quite capable of making good decisions. For instance, help with the housework, keep your room and clothes in order and budget your money wisely.

The Reluctant Cinderella

by JENNIFER AMES

Copyright, 1952, by Jennifer Ames. Distributed by King Features Syndicate.

As she finished speaking, she touched the backs of her ears with her fingers. "Mr. Appleton will wonder what I'm doing," she said a moment later. "So nice of him to have guaranteed the expenses for my trip, but then he wouldn't have if he hadn't liked me a little, would he?"

Carol's table companions had already finished dinner and gone up on deck. She ate something, without being conscious of what it was she ate. She told herself it wasn't that she minded having dinner alone or going alone to the movies—but of course she did mind. What would Derek think? On an impulse, she decided to go up to the bar and make her own excuses. Thelma seemed to imagine he was here for the trip, but Carol felt, too, he liked her a little, and after the talk they'd had last night, she knew she liked him.

Mrs. Felton and he weren't in the bar. Carol was about to leave when she saw them through one of the large plate-glass windows. Derek was leaning against a table with a passenger list open in his hands. In his light dinner suit he looked almost unbelievably handsome. Thelma was half-turned away from him in a provocative attitude. As Carol was about to join them, she heard Thelma say: "I should have thought you'd be relieved. She only won the Award because I insisted. But then there wasn't much choice, I agree. All the finalists were pretty dreary."

Carol didn't want to hear what Derek replied. She felt fighting mad. She turned back through the bar, went down in the elevator and along a long corridor, past stewards and passengers, through a door at the end marked "Tourist passengers only." Presently she found herself at the Tourist pursers' office. Two uniformed girls, the pursers' assistants, were on duty. She asked if they knew where she could find Mr. Jason Felton. They smiled and said he might be on deck or in the lounge where there was a movie. His cabin, one of them said after consulting a list, was 556-B. "Just along that passage and turn to the right," she added.

Carol was sure where what she wanted to say to Jason, or if she wanted to say anything. She wasn't even sure why she had come.

She knocked and found herself hoping there would be no reply, but Jason's voice answered immediately, impatiently. "Come in, come in." She opened the door. He was lying on the bed reading a book, still wearing the slacks and flannel shirt he'd had on earlier that evening. He sprang up when he saw her.

"Why, Carol?" He grinned. "Stunning! It's always nice to see how the other half of the world lives. Be Continued."

YOUR

VISION

What you see and what you look for, when you read, makes a difference. Vision is 87% of all avenues to the brain. Can your vision distinguish between good and evil, honor and dishonor? Jesus said, If your eye leads you into sin, pluck it out. The library of your church will give you reading of 20-20 vision for the soul.

The Bible, in any version, is the world's best reading. Has your Bible reading vision become impaired? Do you develop astigmatism when you start reading God's word? What reading the Bible has done for others...it will do for you. Read it with 20-20 vision of mind and of soul.

Pharmacist Bill Up for Consideration

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A proposed bill to set out rigid standards for registered pharmacists and permit veteran drug store employees to continue to do so under the supervision of a registered pharmacist has been presented individually to Arkansas legislators.

The Associated Press reported erroneously yesterday that the measure would lower the qualifications for registered pharmacists.

The proposal was signed by Glenn C. Ricketts, chairman of the Legislative Committee of the Arkansas Pharmaceutical Association. In a statement attached to it, Ricketts said: "This bill was unanimously approved for introduction in the state legislature by the Arkansas Pharmaceutical Association officers, the State Board of Pharmacy, the School of Pharmacy officials and many pharmacists from all over the state."

Under the proposed bill, employees of drug stores with at least five years experience who have been filling prescriptions under the supervision of a registered pharmacist could apply to the State Board for an examination within 60 days after the bill was passed. If they passed the test, they would be permitted to continue to fill prescriptions under the supervision of a registered man, and would be designated "enrolled practical drug dispensers." They could take charge of a drug store only "during the temporary or enforced absence of the registered pharmacist."

After the 60-day period, no further applications could be received by the board.

It would be a misdemeanor, subject to a fine of from $50 to $200 and/or 30 to 90 days in jail, for an unqualified person to fill a prescription.

State Pharmacy Board regulations now provide that registered pharmacists must be graduates of a 4-year school of pharmacy. The bill would write that provision into the statutes. Registered pharmacists also would have to pass a state examination and serve a year's internship.

The estimate of U. S. wealth of the United States, which excludes some items and which uses the value of the dollar in 1929 for all years, indicates that it grew from 104,200,000,000 dollars in 1890 to 518 billion dollars in 1951.

Gravediggers on Strike in N. Y.

NEW YORK (AP) A grave digger's strike at 10 New York metropolitan area cemeteries has stranded 571 bodies.

An Evergreen Cemetery, one of the three nonsectarian cemeteries affected, all vaults have been filled and 77 coffins have been stacked in tents, with the chill February winds their only refrigeration.

Many relatives have dug graves, then carried their loved ones to their last resting place because hearse drivers refused to cross cemetery picket lines.

About 200 grave diggers struck Jan. 7 in a demand for a $10-a-week wage increase plus other benefits. They made $69 a week.

Cold weather has forestalled thus far any sanitary crisis.

Said Norman L. Jeffer, a Brooklyn director:

"After funeral services, bodies are left with us, and now there are more bodies in many chapels than there is refrigerator space for them. Many undertakers have to alternate bodies in refrigerators."

There are bodies all over the chapels. What's going to happen, I don't know."

Some kinds of wood, like ebony, will sink in water even when fully seasoned.

There are about 24 living species of crocodile.
